Estimated cost of the Edmonton project is $1,500,000, and at Namao $750,000.

Bennett and White Co. were the successful tenderers for 144 of the 250 houses to be erected in the city. Contract for balance of this project, 66 houses, went to Shoguel Bros. Ltd.

The houses will be erected in four scenic U-shaped crescents. These will stem from a city park in the centre of the project.

First units of this project will be ready for occupancy in spring of 1950, and the entire construction completed by autumn.

Court was told Ward had beaten a horse with a logging chain and jabbed it in the ribs with a pitch fork when it became balky.

Abnormal Fear Can Be Cured

Solution Lies In Healer's Words In Biblical Text

The Bulletin continues today publication of a condensation of the widely acclaimed book, "A Guide to confident Living," by Dr. P. H. Peale, noted Presbyterian clergyman, has been minister of Marble Collegiate Church in New York since 1932. He has achieved impressive results as a pastor by forgetting religious dogmas and by practicing the principles for happiness and success for thousands of people. Dr. Peale's principles for confident living will appear in 17 daily chapters. (Copyright 1948, Brentland Inc.)

By Norman Vincent Peale
CHAPTER 9

"The commonest and subtlest of all human diseases is fear," says a distinguished physician.

A well-known psychologist declares that fear is the most debilitating enemy of human personality.

Obviously these scientific men are referring not to normal but to abnormal fear. Normal fear is both necessary and desirable. It is a mechanism designed for our protection. Without normal fear, a person would be lacking in ordinary and sensible caution.

The line of distinction between normal and abnormal fear is very finely drawn. Abnormal fear disturbs your days and your nights. It is a center and source of complexes. It tangles the mind with obsessions. It draws off energies, destroys inner peace, and saps your power. It reduces one to ineffectiveness and frustrates ambitions.

But you can be free from such fear. Abnormal fear can be cured.

Healer's Medicine Made Him Well

"I followed my teacher's suggestion," he declared, "and I gave me a medicine which made me well."

And what was this medicine? It was not a liquid or a pill, but it was compounded as a pellet, but it was in the form of words. It was the potent compound of words called a Biblical text. "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." (I Timothy 1:7).

"I took those words," said the young doctor, "and I allowed them to sink deeply into my mind. Their healing potency penetrated and infiltrated into my subconscious, and I was able to follow the course of deliverance came, followed by a strange sense of peace."

Works For Many; Validity Proven

The mind having been cleansed, the center of infection heals rapidly until a normal condition again prevails. This may be a curious way of describing the effect of words on the mind, but this is the way it works. The words of faith as a vital healing agent has worked for so many that its validity is proven.

A prominent businessman came for an appointment. "Do you think I am losing my mind?" was his question.

"You look rational enough," I replied. "What makes you think you are losing your mind?"

"Because I cannot make the simplest decisions," he replied. "Throughout my business career I have handled matters of great importance and have made decisions affecting vast sums of money. But now the simplest and most seemingly unimportant decisions cause me no end of struggle."

"When did I make a decision. I am haunted by the possibility I have decided incorrectly. As a result I am filled with fear. I seem to be afraid of everything."

Relax The Body Again And Pray

"Next," I said, "go to your office and after lunch lie down. If you have a place to do so, if not, lie on your back. Put your head on your hands. Again relax the body and having done so, pray saying:

"Lord, we had a wonderful morning together. We made some decisions and they are good decisions because you were with me. We forgot you were with me and I am not afraid for you are with me."

Finally, "Go to bed at a reasonable hour. Before you get into bed, throw up the windows, fill the room with fresh air. Breathe in and breathe deeply. Inhale and exhale deeply. Sleep. Deep breathing has a powerful effect in relaxing tension. Then get into bed and again practice the formula of relaxation."

Gulf Has Big Oil Plans Here

already three Gulf producing wells in the section.

(3) It was hinted Gulf has been negotiating with a pipe-line company to export Pincher Creek oil to Canada and U.S. west coast centers. It was indicated the pipe-line would be laid within the next 18 months to two years.

OUTLOOK

Said one official: "The outlook is very bright for Gulf here. That's why the board of directors is visiting Alberta today."

He said of the 20 wells drilled in Alberta by Gulf to date only five have been dry holes. Ten have given oil showings and five have been producers.

"Usually only one out of 20 wildcats is a hit," he added.

Conquer Gulf's gas interests, he described Pincher Creek wells as "awfully big."

Pincher Creek well has a capacity of 83,000,000 cubic feet of gas and 3,000 barrels of distillate a day.

ONLY DRAWBACK

Big hitch in Gulf's expansion program is the fact "the oil market is saturated." Great easing of marketing conditions is looked for after completion of the Edmonton-Regina pipeline in 1950.

Producers headquarters being established in Edmonton will be staffed by three key men from the U.S. with the remaining employees Edmontonians.

President Swensrud summed up the outlook for the Gulf of Alberta program one of the most important of the company's present-day operations.

Gulf operates vast fields in the U.S.A., South America and the Middle East.

Four rigs are now drilling in Redwater and there are ground geophysical parties scattered all over the province as the intensive search goes on.

Canada Reds Plan Revolt

Klig became a naturalized Canadian citizen and was a furrier in Winnipeg and Toronto.

He joined the union, he said, and came to New York. As international representative for the union he travelled between the U.S. and Canada negotiating union contracts.

In April, 1941, Klig said, he went to Cuba and gained admission to the United States immediately on a permanent visa. Following establishing his residence in the United States in 1941, he continued to cross to Canada and return without difficulty until his last re-entry in 1942.

Several months later, Klig said, he was cited for deportation. His case had been investigated, he said, and he was found to be a member of the Communist party of Canada.

Witness Testifies

Lohay, first witness at the hearing, said he joined the Communist party in 1928 after emigrating from Poland to Canada in 1913.

Inspector Edward P. Emanuel asked Lohay: "What were the aims of the Communist party of Canada during the years of your membership?"

"To agitate and organize the workers to overthrow the government of Canada," Lohay answered.

Emanuel: "How?"

Lohay: "By force and revolution. Through the seizure of property, in plain words, killing people and removing them from the government."

Emanuel: "How would this be accomplished?"

Lohay: "By armed men with weapons, guns, rifles and other weapons."

Lohay then identified a number of party membership books and other literature which he testified had been distributed by the Communist party of Canada.

WORD ABOUT ALBERTA SENT TO BELGIUM

Belgium is mighty interested in Alberta and particularly interested in Edmonton.

Provincial publicity director E. S. Bryant recently received letters from Baron de Gaffier, councillor at the Belgium embassy, Ottawa asking for information about the province and Edmonton.

It is the desire of the Belgium councillor to foster trade between this province and Belgium and to encourage Belgian investments in industrial development here.

Alberta publications containing technical information have been sent the Belgian embassy.

An article entitled "Mineral Wealth in Canada" has been written specially for La Metropole, a widely-read Belgian publication.

Street Fight Is Topic Of Court Dispute

Two young street brawlers were called liars in police court today and each sentenced to serve 30 days.

Greek Group Votes Awards

Two Alberta students were voted scholarships in Greek language today at the close of the three day convention of Anglo-Hellenic Education Progressive Association. Aphrodite Baracos, of Banff, Lin University of Alberta student won $50 for high marks in classical Greek. Daphne Irene Lingas received a $25 award for top marks of Greek descent in Edmonton high schools.

Saskatchewan and Manitoba university students also were awarded $50 scholarships and a Saskatoon won a high school $25 prize for Greek language study. From the three-province district treasury the association voted a $50 donation to the Col. Newburn Pavilion War Amputees Fund. Officers elected for the coming year were: district governor, Constantine Vlasik, Winnipeg (second term); district lieutenant, Governor Ted Gardiner, Saskatoon; district secretary, James Baleskos, Regina; and John Christopher, Edmonton District marshal.

Next convention will be held at Winnipeg in July.

Delegates will attend a final banquet tonight at the Corona.

C of C Plans Resolutions

Edmonton chapter will submit resolutions on agriculture, free enterprise, federal-provincial relations, education, radio broadcasting and government expenditures to the 20th annual Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention at Montreal.

This decision was reached yesterday at the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce council meeting. L. V. Cairns, K.C., and James A. Christiansen will be asked to head resolutions committees. Delegates to the 20th annual meeting in Montreal October 24-27 were named. They are A. I. Burrows president, F. G. Winspear, a national committee member, H. E. Pearson, G. C. McIntyre and Don McKel, executive secretary.

Almost certain to occupy a prominent place in discussions at Montreal is the proposal for a world calendar, which has received much publicity in the United States recently.

Contrary to popular belief, watches are not harmed by having their hands turned backwards.

Health Service Union Likely

Public, Separate Boards To Study Amalgamation

Public and Separate School Boards will immediately undertake a full study of amalgamation of their health services under the administration of the city's medical health officer.

Amalgamation aimed at decentralizing inoculation and child welfare clinics, was discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of city commissioners, school board officials, and the medical health officer.

It was decided to ask the school boards to launch an intensive investigation into such a move and report back to commissioners with the next five-week work.

CLINICS CROWDED

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay said the amalgamation is becoming urgent, with downtown clinics badly overcrowded.

Combining the two services would permit the work to be done in district schools, thus easing the burden on clinics and making it easier for parents to have their children cared for medically.

"Bringing all health services, for both school and pre-school children, under one administration will give better service and better health."

"Admittedly it will cost more, but it will be worth it to have the job done right," the mayor said.

OTHER CITIES

All major cities in Canada have already taken the move suggested here, it was pointed out during discussion.

Both school boards will have to come back with the same answer to the proposal, said Mayor Ainlay, or the city cannot make the move.

New Theatre Talked Again

Rumors have been revived here of construction of a new downtown movie theatre by Odéon motion picture company of Canada.

Proposed theatre would occupy a four-story building on Jasper avenue just east of the Bank of Montreal building. It would seat approximately 1,000.

Unconfirmed reports state the theatre building will be started next spring and be opened in the spring of 1951.

The Odéon interests here had planned construction of the building during the last war but negotiations placed on materials forced abandonment of plans for the time being.

Odéon company is now proceeding with construction of a neighborhood theatre on 118 avenue to seat 600. It is expected to be finished by Jan. 1.

Plans of Famous Players Canadian Corp. to build a new theatre on Jasper avenue between 102 and 103 streets are vague. Cost of construction is said to be holding back the project.

Egg Prices Plunge Six Cents

Wholesale prices of eggs will take a drop tomorrow when the prices of eggs per dozen will drop six cents for Grade A and two cents for Grade C.

This was revealed today by the Dominion Poultry Services.

Sharp plunge in prices, the bureau said, was due to a dropping off in British Columbia in the demand for Grade A eggs.

Department stores contacted today by The Bulletin said there was no indication the drop would be carried to the consumer immediately.

However, one bureau official thought it would affect the consumer market "within a few days."

New prices being paid to producers and which take effect tomorrow are: Grade A 50 cents per dozen, a medium 48 cents, a pullet 46 cents, and a small 44 cents and Grade C 24 cents.

Oil Impresses Texan Visitor

Oil production in the Edmonton fields is stirring deep interest even in the large oil producing area of the United States, the Bulletin was told today in an interview with Col. D. H. H. V. view chairman of the Civil Air Patrol. The colonel is with a United States military party headed by Gen. Junius Jones, commanding officer of the Sacramento Air Materiel Area, which reached here yesterday.

The group left this morning by R.C.A.F. transport for Whitehorse where they will join high ranking R.C.A.F. officers and a group of 12 American Air Cadets here on cadet exchange familiarization tour. "I am tremendously impressed with reports of your new oil discoveries," said Col. H. V. Partner in Byrd-Frost Inc. of Dallas, Texas, the colonel's industry includes large exploration activity and numerous producing petroleum wells in the San Juan basin on the south western States.

He said it "is possible" he might be interested in taking out reservations in the Edmonton oil fields. Besides Col. Byrd, officers in Gen. Jones' party include: Col. W. Booth, representing Maj. J. Lucas, V. Beau, and Col. W. Todd and H. Coffey, Maj. A. Treener, and Capt. W. Price.

Fish Packs Moving In Slave Lake Area

Shipments of fresh-packed fish are moving again from Great Slave Lake after being halted a week due to truck freighting difficulties. This was revealed yesterday by Ray Hull, managing director of the Northern Transportation, one of the operators freighting fish from the area.

Halt was called because of extremely muddy roads which were impassable by the large trucks.

Teacher Lack Claim Answered by Casey

No school children have been without education although some Alberta schools may have been without teachers in the past few years, Hon. Ivan Casey, provincial education minister said today.

The minister was replying to a statement by Eric C. Ansley, general secretary of Alberta Teachers' Association, who was quoted as saying:

"Right here in Alberta thousands of rural school children will never see a teacher in 1950 and some schools have had no teachers for nine years in a row."

Mr. Casey said he doubted if Mr. Ansley is correct in stating some schools have had no teachers for nine years.

Under the supervisor system operating under the correspondence schools branch of the education department, children attend schools and have supervision just as if there were teachers, Mr. Casey said.

Of recent years the rotation system has been largely adopted. Schools under supervisors one year have teachers the following year as far as is possible.

SHORTAGE EASING
Even where lessons are all done through correspondence, work is all corrected and supervised by fully qualified teachers, Mr. Casey said.

Casey again predicted the teacher shortage would not be so bad in the coming school term. On the basis of teacher graduations it seems unlikely the shortage will be above 300. Last year the province was short about 400 qualified teachers.

Mr. Casey also felt that minor married women should stay at teaching in country schools this year because of poor crops.

Body Found Near River

R.C.M.P. are investigating the unidentified body of an elderly man found Tuesday on the banks of the Saskatchewan river just east of Edmonton.

D. M. Cantor, provincial coroner, said he could detect no marks of foul play on the body. He believed it had been washed down the river from the city about the spring of 1948.

The coroner described the body as about 65 years, bald-headed and about five feet six inches tall. The man had been wearing a brown sweater and heavy grey work pants and boots.

Many Compete For Education Scholarships

Excellent response to the $150,000 in scholarships offered this year by the provincial department of education to encourage young people to enter the teaching profession has been received.

Alberta Education Minister Hon. Ivan Casey said yesterday it seemed certain the 500 scholarships offered will be accepted.

There are two types of scholarship. First is a scholarship worth $200 plus training school tuition offered by the provincial department of education and municipal school districts.

The second is a straight department of education grant of $200 plus tuition.

Mr. Casey said awarding of scholarships has not been completed because of the necessity of correcting many grade 12 examination papers but he is confident all 500 will be accepted before next term at normal schools start.

60 Enter Soil Contest

Judging of farms of the 60 entrants in this year's Chamber of Commerce Save the Soil contest will be completed by the end of August.

Gordon R. Sterling, provincial supervisor for soil conservation and weed control will act as principal judge, assisted by Bert J. Whitbread, district agriculturalist, and Jack E. Duggan.

The announcement was made by Executive Secretary Don McKay following yesterday's Chamber of Commerce council meeting, which named the 1949-50 Save the Soil Campaign committee.

It consists of P. P. Griffith, chairman, and J. R. MacFarlane, J. P. Brown, Murray Hamilton and J. E. Duggan.

The Save the Soil campaign, now in its third year, is carried on in the four municipalities adjoining Edmonton—Morinville, Sturgeon, Stony Plain and Strathcona—to encourage better soil cultivation and conservation practices.

Display of Steaks and Bacon Big and Lively at St. Paul

More Exhibitors and Riders
Drawn to Town's Annual Fair

By John McLean
Bulletin Staff Reporter

ST. PAUL, Aug. 11.—Little Joe Bedard, the man who gave St. Paul a real, jimmidy fair, stroked his grizzled chin. "Well, six," said Joe, "it looks like this is going to be the biggest ever."

And Joe was probably right. As the 1945 fair and stampede got off to a smooth start yesterday it looked like a record-breaking affair all the way.

EXHIBITS DOUBLED
There were twice as many exhibitors, more riders in the stampede and a banana crowd which promised to swell to record figures before the show winds up at midnight today.

From miles around, they came to the fair. Farmers drove in with great flocks. There were enough trucks on the hoof to keep six football teams all season.

And there were the riders for the kids—and the young in heart—and the gallons of ice cream, steam, hot dogs, sizzling hamburgers. And then there was the parade.

FULL FORCE
The 2,000 souls of this little town 150 miles north and east of Edmonton were out in full force for the pre-fair parade. Fringing horses, drum-beating Indians, marching Mounties and floats galore gave St. Paul's dusty main street a charming face-lifting.

The hard-riding bronco-busters who came here from as far away as Montana lent a frontier touch to the proceedings.

And later these lads who feel more at home on a charging steed than anywhere else livened the show with their riding skill before jam-packed grandstands.

Little Joe Bedard was wearing the $150 Mexican sombrero given him last year by St. Paul's Chamber of Commerce.

Grimacing out from beneath its coat, broad grin, Joe was sure his fair was going to be a success.

HONORS SHARED
Sharing organizational honors with Joe Bedard was veteran horse handman Sieve Demchuk, who didn't let the memory of a broken back keep him off the big grey gelding which put him in the hospital a year ago.

"Couldn't put a saddle on this fellow two years ago," grinned Sieve. "And look at him now."

And looking at the gelding, one came to the conclusion two years hadn't done much to discourage the big fellow from his former ways.

Steve and Joe, and all the St. Paul people who have worked to make this year's fair a real affair, can take a bow.

From the big building full of domestic and farm exhibits to the thrill-show which played to a packed grandstand, the thing was—and is—a success.

LIGHTNING HITS PLANT

BELLIS, Aug. 11.—Lightning struck the Deleo plant belonging to Nick Taschuk. The plant furnishes lights for the street and for some business places and houses. The wires were burned out.

Largest single item in the federal government budget estimate is interest on Canada's public debt—a cost to taxpayers this year of $347,000 a day.

Truck Contest Dates Are Set

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Closing date for entries in the Alberta Motor Transport Association roadster to be held at the Edmonton airport September 10, has been set for August 15. A.M.T.A. officials announced here.

Winner of the provincial roadster will compete in the Canadian championships at Toronto in October.

Practice tracks have been set up at the Calgary municipal airport and at the Namah airport near Edmonton. One is scheduled to be available soon in Lethbridge.

Medicine Hat Polio

MEDICINE HAT, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Clarence Semrau, 14, is in hospital. Medicine Hat's first polio case of the year. Doctors said his condition is not serious. Three polio cases were reported in the city last year.

ESTHER, August 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schroeder of Esther celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary when 41 guests and relatives sat down to a barbecue meal of roast beef. Mr. Schroeder said they butchered "the fatted steer for the occasion."

Edmonton's Oil Industry Keeps Lines Humming

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Calgary has become the Canadian hub of oil industry communications in the last two years. W. D. Neill of Montreal, general manager of Canadian Pacific Communications, said here.

Equipment of the C.P. telegraphs is working at capacity between Calgary and Edmonton because of the boom in the oil industry. Twenty-seven private tele-type networks operate over the wire line facilities of the railway.

Companies between the two cities from the offices of companies, oil well supply houses and other firms.

Child Charge Remand Given

CALGARY, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Trial of Mrs. Jessie M. Williams and Edward Owens, both of Calgary, charged with abduction of Mrs. Williams' 18-month-old son from his foster home here July 31, was further adjourned until Aug. 31 yesterday.

Mrs. Williams is alleged to have walked into the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibb of Calgary, and after demanding the baby from his foster mother, is said to have snatched the child from its bed and escaped.

Custody of the child has been awarded to Mr. Williams after a divorce action one year ago. He placed the baby in the Gibb home. Mrs. Williams and Owens were arrested on a farm near High River, by RCMP. They were charged with abduction. The baby was with them when they were apprehended, but it was not harmed. Mrs. Williams and Owens are at liberty on bail of $500.

Among 2,500 species of birds, the smallest is the seven-inch chameleon and the largest the 18-foot monitor.

SUNSHADES IN SUNNY ALBERTA

The sunshade is coming back to sunny rural Alberta. Mrs. Jack Manning, of Delburne, who is sporting the one in the picture, said they are becoming quite popular in her area, and most of the stores carry them. Just the thing for protection when you take in the district fairs, said Mrs. Manning.

Thousands Spent to Help Vets in Peace River Area

Frontiers of the north are steadily receding as land development in the great Peace River district continues with illimitable progress, which at one time were inaccessible and covered with heavy growths of timber are now being converted into prosperous farms and growing communities.

Large areas which at one time were inaccessible and covered with heavy growths of timber are now being converted into prosperous farms and growing communities.

Early settlers who blazed their way into the country and cleared the land with an axe and by the sweat of their brow, now see the land being developed overnight with heavy, powerful machinery.

MILLIONS IN EXPORTS
The Peace River district now exports annually millions of dollars worth of agricultural products, fur, lumber and cotton.

Its mineral wealth is largely untapped. Progressive centres, with up-to-date facilities, stores, power plants, and radio stations, such as Grande Prairie and Dawson Creek, serve this vast area.

The Peace River district has now grown up and added to the part of Alberta and British Columbia is in reality a rich fertile self-sustaining province in itself.

During the war the percentage of men per capita who enlisted from this area was greater than from any other part of Canada, and they are now back moving the old frontier.

VETERANS HELPED
In order to assist the many veterans returning to the Grande Prairie and B.C. block, the director of Veterans' Land Act, opened regional offices at Grande Prairie and Dawson Creek. Later to provide greater efficiency and uniformity of purpose, these two offices were combined and placed under control of one regional supervisor, with eight sub-offices at strategic points.

Policy has been to assist veterans to acquire farms in the better land areas.

This has been accomplished both by purchasing desirable farms and by assisting veterans to settle on raw provincial land.

In the latter case, veterans are given a lease on the land by the province and the Veterans' Land Act has assisted them with the non-repayable grant of $2,500 to clear and develop the land, erect buildings, and purchase stock and equipment.

The Veterans' Land Act in these combined regional districts has approved over $2,500,000 for developed farms and additional permanent improvements, and over $1,000,000 for stock and equipment.

It has assisted 400 veterans to be established on over 120,000 acres of provincial land with assistance approved in the amount of approximately $300,000.

VETERAN FIGURES
Since starting the Veterans' Land Act has developed and broken 25,000 acres. Cost for this work has averaged $10.75 an acre for brushing and piling, and $7.00 per acre for breaking, which figures represent sound prices and within present day economic values.

In the B.C. part of the district the administration last year purchased the Indian Reserve at Fort St. John, from the department of Indian Affairs.

To date there are 38 veterans established on this project. They have 2000 acres in crop and over 2000 acres are being developed this year.

The Alberta provincial government has developed immense tracts in the Wainman area, the work is being done by large contractors on a scale never before attempted.

This land is reserved for veteran settlement. All the units which have been developed, with an average of 280 acres cultivated,

The man who invented the typewriter was one right smart fellow, but he would be surprised how Canadian railways have developed so many variations on the same theme.

Most typewriters in country stations can be placed in two categories. Typing as and them as isn't. Most ain't.

If a business college taught students to use all the different kinds of keyboards you find on railway typewriters the student would never graduate.

First there is the kind with no letters on the keys. Handling these is easy if you can touch type. If you can't, you might as well walk over to the next town and see what the agent there has to get along with.

Then there is the kind with three bank keyboard instead of four rows of keys. This is fun too, and one reason the copy misses the deadline.

And there is the type where the keys are in different places. It looks like any other kind of typewriter and sounds like laughing until you sit down at the keyboard.

Quite happy and untroubled by the purchasing disaster, you start to write and sit down at the keyboard and find it's a disaster.

Only thing to do is send what you have written and tell the editor that if he couldn't read what he received it was because of the aurora borealis.

The kind with the tabulator key where the figure 0 should be was developed by some guy with a hair for mankind.

It is not too troublesome. All that happens is that you may be writing about Jasper having its most successful tourist season in months with something like 6,000 people there.

Wouldn't be too bad, but a guy hasn't much use for the blank spaces.

And have you met the kind that prints everything in capital letters? Because everything is in caps there are no small letters, come.

have been settled by veterans. The Veterans' Land Act has assisted these veterans in their building program and acquiring tractors, combine, and farm machinery.

SMALL HOLDINGS
Small holding feature of the act has not been overlooked. In the Grande Prairie, on the Broadview project, there are 30 homes. These veterans' homes are an asset to the town; they are modern in every respect.

Beaverledge also has its small holding project which has six new modern homes. There are three other individual small holdings adjacent.

Total approved expenditure for small holdings amounts to approximately $175,000.

ON THE TOWN

By J. D.

Hearing visitors to Alberta marvel loudly over the vast oil and mineral resources of this province has become so commonplace that many of us become a trifle bored at times.

I think we accept our bounty of oil, coal and minerals like the matchless Alberta sunshine and the pure, bracing prairie air we breathe.

We still do not realize how fortunate we are.

I've been thinking this way since I returned from Australia.

There it was brought home to me and other members of the CPA pre-inaugural flight party, just how richly blessed this province really is.

In Australia we saw a great Commonwealth, a sub-continent in fact, with her industrial life at a virtual standstill because of the coal strike.

I couldn't quite understand at first why things should be so bad. We have had coal strikes in Canada where the winters are really cold but I cannot remember such complete paralysis of industrial and social activity as I witnessed in Australia.

NEED OIL BADLY
I mentioned this to an Australian newspaperman and he said:

"Oh yes, but in Canada you have oil and hydro power. We haven't a drop of oil in Australia and there is very little hydro electric power. When we have to coal everything shuts down."

Right there and then the true significance of living in a land so rich in natural resources as Alberta struck me for the first time.

Said my Australian friend in tones of desperation: "We are trying hard to get oil up in New Guinea and we'll get it yet."

So there you have it. A country may have climate that is the finest in the world. It may have fruit and crops that supply in full every dietary need of the inhabitants.

But unless it has the raw resources that are needed in this mechanized age to keep the wheels spinning, it is like a crippled giant at a time of crisis.

REAL BOOSTERS NOW
On the flight home from Australia members of our party discussed what we had seen and heard in Australia and compared notes.

Edmonton's Senator "Jim" MacKinnon summed up for our composite opinion of us all with:

"I think Canada is a pretty good place to live. I will go one better now by adding: 'I think Alberta is just about the best part of Canada to live in.'"

We don't grow bananas, pineapples or palm trees but what we do have is the great river system.

It is not because of superior brains that Canadians and Americans are so close together in the land of living on all the earth.

We've got what it takes to make the main wheels of this modern industrial age keep turning.

STONE AGE implements found in Barren Lands of north country are expected to contribute greatly toward solving mystery of origin of Indian race. Dr. Richard MacNeish (right) of National Museum, Ottawa, here examines implements he discovered this summer in the north. With him is Bill MacDonald, amateur Yellowknife naturalist, who is assisting the scientist in his work.

Archaeologist Probes Into Continent's Past

By Stan Burke
Bulletin Staff Reporter

The American Indian had the highest civilization in the world at the time of Christ.

No says Dr. Richard MacNeish, an archaeologist from the National Museum at Ottawa, who is working this summer in the Yellowknife area.

The scientist is studying the migration routes used by the Indians in their trek from Asia some 25,000 years ago. Already he has made valuable finds of some three dozen stone spearheads, choppers and scrapers in the Barren Lands, 200 miles northeast of Yellowknife.

INFORMATION COMPLETE
Information is now fairly complete, he says, as to where the Indians came from, when, and how.

We are just about ready to nail the lid on that question," said Dr. MacNeish when interviewed by the Bulletin in Yellowknife.

But about the Indian civilization. The civilizations of the Aztecs, Mayas, and Incas of Central and South America, which flourished in the centuries before the Spanish conquest had no equal in the Old World of the day.

The Indians were skilled architects, mathematicians and astronomers. They had a highly developed political system.

ROMANTIC IDEAS
Many romantic theories have been advanced to account for their civilizations. Some people had the cultured Indians as refugees from the lost continent of Atlantis.

Others said they were somehow related to the Egyptians. Others thought they sailed across the Pacific.

The scientists said very little. Now they know these people and their descendants today are essentially the same as the Indians as those who inhabit the rest of the New World. It is believed, however, they arrived in a later migration.

The reason for their superiority was their success in raising corn. Dr. MacNeish. While other Indians remained nomadic hunters, the Central American Indians became farmers and settled down in cities. Gradually their civilization reached its development.

MIGRATION ROUTE
The preliminary studies being conducted by Dr. MacNeish in the north this season may prove important in proving a new migration route used by the Indians in their journey from Siberia.

Formerly it was believed two travelled through the Yukon and down the Mackenzie valley.

Drunkometer May End Drivers' Easy Defence

CRIMINALS GET DARING

There are limits—even for crime.

We've got to expect a few axe-murders and things like that. But when someone steals the police chief's putter, it's going too far!

The Chief, one of the city's most ardent golfers, labored in the 70th alerted the force this morning to be on the lookout for the pet putter.

The intrepid thief had better look up because the club can be easily identified. It is believed to be the only one of its kind in western Canada.

It has a multi-type head with a cork hand-grip.

Businessman Dies Here

Funeral services for William Freeman, 62, of 11600 84 avenue will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at Foster and McGarry funeral chapel.

Operating at this service will be Rev. J. M. Edwards and burial will be in the Edmonton cemetery.

A prominent businessman and resident here for the past 34 years, Mr. Freeman died in University Hospital after a stroke.

Manager of the Imperial Optical Co. here since 1915, he was a member of the Rotary Club and was the eighth sports entertainment director.

He was married to Mrs. J. M. Freeman and had two sons, J. M. and W. J. Freeman.

Surviving him are his wife, three daughters, Mrs. J. D. Williams, Edmonton; Mrs. B. McPherson, Calgary; Mrs. J. Hallgren, Penikese, B.C.; two sisters, Mrs. O. Richardson, Edmonton; and a brother, J. J. Freeman, Rockland, and six grandchildren.

CAVE MEN ALIVE
And did you know that the guy who lives next door may be a prehistoric cave-man? Or that your mother-in-law may be the descendant of a Stone Age monster?

It is a fact.

Dr. MacNeish, whose scientists have been Stone Age races like the Neanderthal and the Cro-Magnon of 25,000-50,000 years ago, may not be extinct at all. They have been remnants of these races still exist.

Studies in New York have shown that several bodies have been recovered in the morgue there who are true Neanderthal specimens.

ARCTIC TYPES
And the Basques, the people who live in northern Spain and southern France, are now believed by the school of archaeologists to be descendants of Cro-Magnon men who made highly artistic cave drawings in southern France some 25,000 years ago.

Race's theory of racial superiority is also de-bunked by the doctor. No race is more intelligent or superior to any other.

Differences between them are the result of cultural background, he believes. The athletic prowess of the American negro, for example, is merely the result of hard physical labor which the race has been forced to perform since earliest days of colonization.

COMMON ANCESTOR
Dr. MacNeish said it is now believed all men descended from the same common ancestor, possibly Genghis Khan, the enormous brute who lived in Java a million years ago. He had teeth eight times the size of modern man but the IQ of a rather bright ape.

Remnants of ancient man found in Java show a fairly complex chain leading, said Genghis Khan, and ending up in the modern Australian bushman type, he said.

Poultrymen Urge Board

First action to prepare an alternative to the present uneasy export market for Alberta eggs was taken yesterday at a meeting of poultrymen in Edmonton.

The meeting agreed the aim should be establishment of a provincial marketing board.

Committee appointed to explore this objective is composed of K. V. Kander, of Sturgeon, chairman; committee members: Eric Triaka, Edmonton and Jack Rhodes, of Brant.

Object of a provincial marketing board would be to act under government authority in fixing floor prices for eggs, and to have authority to make contracts for export.

Threatened loss of the British market, hastened the action by organized producers.

The meeting was held in the board room of the Alberta Poultry Marketing Association.

New Instrument Tests Blood for Alcohol

Edmonton's alcoholic autolists had better mend their ways—science is on their trail.

In town today are two American authorities from the American National Safety Commission demonstrating the "drunkometer," a scientific instrument which determines the amount of alcohol in the blood.

They are Chief Justice Harry H. Porter, of Evanston, Ill., former chairman of the committee on tests for intoxication of the N.S.C., and Lieut. Frank M. Andrews Jr., commander, traffic police division, Evanston, and an instructor at Northwestern University.

"Alcohol is the chief cause of traffic accidents today," said Judge Porter. "Safety experts believe it is a factor in 40 per cent of all accidents."

Alcohol tests are now used in 38 American states to determine the sobriety of drivers involved in accidents, he said. The system has been widely used for many years throughout Europe, especially in Scandinavia.

"Without the aid of a scientific test to determine alcohol content in the blood it is extremely difficult to induce a conviction for drunken driving," he said.

"I am sure that it is just as difficult to obtain a conviction here in Edmonton as it is in the United States where tests are not used," he added.

EASY OUT
There are between 60 and 80 pathological conditions which cause all the symptoms of drunkenness except the smell of liquor on the breath, the chief justice stated.

Shock resulting from an accident is the most common. Insulin shock is another example.

"To get off on a drunken driving charge, all the driver has to do is take his choice of these conditions and stick to his story," he said.

"He can say he was suffering a mild case of encephalitis. Without the aid of a test, it is extremely difficult to disprove his story."

The chief justice quoted figures which bring home the shocking traffic toll in the U.S.

Annually 32,000 persons are killed, the equivalent of a city, almost twice the size of Lethbridge. Another 1,400,000 persons are injured.

Cost to the country is $2,600,000. About 12,000 more persons have been killed in traffic accidents than were killed and died of wounds in all the wars in American history.

PROTECTS INNOCENT
The experts have demonstrated the tests in other Alberta cities within the past few days. The demonstrations, being made for the first time in Canada, have caused widespread interest in traffic, safety and legal circles.

The pair will address a service club meeting today. They will address a public meeting in the public library tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The drunkometer tests the amount of alcohol in the breath and its results are entirely accurate, the judge stated. They prevent an innocent man from being falsely charged and positively identify offenders.

A fair trial is assured, even for the hapless autoist who argues, "I can hold my liquor, I can hold my beer."

The drunkometer measures the amount of alcohol in the blood, a sure test of sobriety, he explained. Intoxication is caused by alcohol being carried to the brain in the bloodstream. Ability of some individuals to withstand the amount of alcohol results from their being able to eliminate it before it enters the bloodstream.

The scientific instrument never lies. No arguing, brother. If it says you're drunk—you're drunk!

Critic Thinks Future Bright For Pops Group

Last night's "pops" concert was a huge success. The Sales Pavilion was filled to overflowing, and the music was good.

For a change, an Edmonton audience wasn't stingy with its applause, and it was certainly odd to hear the crack of that first wave of handclapping after almost every number last night.

But then, the audience had something to applaud.

Crises of Edmonton's highly successful "pops" orchestra have been reviewed before so, though it may not be so flattering, the true significance of living in a land so rich in natural resources as Alberta struck me for the first time.

New soloists in this fifth concert were mezzo-soprano Vera Weaver and baritone Don Walmisley.

Most of the singing was confined to selections from Sigmund Romberg's operetta The New Moon, and it was unfortunate that the public address system of the Sales Pavilion was a sellout last night proves that "pops" concerts have caught on in Edmonton—and in just two weeks.

Mr. Walmisley, who is usually on the business end of a saxophone or clarinet at musical events, has a pleasing voice though it takes the finish and experience of an artist who can concentrate strictly on singing.

Miss Weaver, whom I have never heard before, was a distinct and pleasant surprise.

She had more opportunity than Mr. Walmisley to display her talents, singing in addition to the New Moon, the song "Don't Stop at the Vex" from Saint-Saens Samson and Delila, and Victor Herbert's "The Swan."

P. A. SYSTEM BAD
Although at times her voice lacks emotion and warmth, she is, I think, one of Edmonton's leading vocalists. She sings easily and confidently, has lots of power and doesn't have to strain or scow when she jumps to a high note, has a good stage manner, and is microphone-wise.

Her voice seemed a trifle too throaty at times, but I think the fault was the public address system rather than hers.

All in all, she gave a very fine showing.

Flautist Harlan Green proved his proficiency again with Bach's Prelude from Suite for Flute and Strings in D Minor and as an encore, the new, cheerful Sicilian Tarantella.

There is nothing that can make a music critic happier in a city like Edmonton than to be in one to attend a musical event and enjoy it, and not wonder through most of

Police Check Attack Report

An aged recluse is in hospital in serious condition today after being beaten and robbed of $60 near his shack at 166 street and Stony Plain road Tuesday.

George Frank, 77, crawled to the home of a neighbor, who called RCMP and Smith's ambulance.

He was taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital.

According to Constable Parlow of West Jasper Place, Frank was partly unconscious when he reached the neighbor's home. He was not capable of speaking coherently for some time.

RCMP are investigating the robbery. No arrests as yet have been made.

Speeding Costs Prove High
Increased vigilance by city traffic police has proved fruitful. City motorists paid out $20,166 in police court yesterday.

Six motorists were charged with speeding, and each was fined $20 plus court costs.
